SABBATH DESERATION.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

DEAR SIR:—In one of the items of your correspondent from this Reserve he refers to base ball playing on Sunday and states that the offenders are under the "eye" of the Missionary, as if he were responsible for acts of all transgressors.

In the first place those who set about to break the law generally manage to evade

the eye of the Missionary for they not only know that they are disobeying his instructions

but they are sure that they will make a complaint to those authorities to punish.

The duty of a missionary I believe it is to exhort, advise and explain the laws of God.

During my former incumbency of this

Parish, when there were no legal officials near, I did what lay in my power to teach

my people to "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," and I am sure those who succeeded in not doing the same. Since my return, after an absence of 15 years, I have renewed my efforts in that direction, and if the Mohawks are guilty of a breach of the law your correspondent, before insinuating

that the Missionary is careless, should ascertain

what his power to enforce the laws and make his complaint to the proper authorities.

Clergymen while advising their people to keep the commandments have no authority to compel them, and therefore should have no responsibility for their infringement.

I am, Dear Sir,

Yours Truly,

G. A. ANDERSON,

Missionary to the Mohawks.

Mohawk Parsonage, July 3rd, 1888.

THE CATECHIST'S TOMB.

THE TRIBUNE has on several occasions drawn attention to the neglected condition of the tomb of that holy man, Mr. John

Hill, at one time Catechist to the Mohawks and now a resident of this town. It is laboured among his people with rare devotion, instructing them by word and example. His son John succeeded him as Catechist and laboured before his death

revised edition of the Mohawk Prayer Book.

Another son Isaac John Hill also laboured

for over a year as Catechist. These facts are probably unknown to the present generation of Mohawks. Now that they are known nothing more can be said to emphasize the necessity of taking prompt action towards placing the tomb in a more creditable condition. We append a few notes taken from the Church Register, the entries being made by Mr. Givins at one time Missionary to the Mohawks.—

Eleanor Hill, wife of John Hill, Sr.,

of the Mohawks, aged 48 years, died on seventh of May, 1840, and was buried on tenth following by me.

John Hill, Catechist to the Mohawks,

of the Bay of Quinte, aged 60 years, died on 17th June, 1848, and was buried on the 19th

of the same month by me.

Buried John Hill, aged 32 years, who died in the month of February, 1847.

NOTE.—Mr. John Hill was the son and successor of John Hill, who died in 1840,

and who had served as Catechist to the Mohawks for the long period of 30 years.

The deceased, his eldest son, was a young man of a pious and exemplary character.

He had made respectable advances in knowledge and from his religious labours he derived a great deal of satisfaction. He was highly esteemed by his people. He was highly esteemed by a very extensive acquaintance and was highly respected by the Church

Register, and it was thought on his return from that city in the spring of the year he contracted from exposure a cold which ended in consumption of which he died.

TYENDINGAGA COURT OF REVISION.

to the roll, and the Court closed its session,

resolving itself into a council board.

Tyendingaga be and they are appointed failure of the hay crop, are selling large real, for a good round figure. The Mischief deserontoed to gain entrance into Mr. Edward Wilson's house on Fourth street.

Fortunately they were heard by Mr. Will.
Deseronto, Mr. J. H. Dunn, the next neighbor, Mr. Wilson being away from home. Hearing Mr. Dunn's address the travellers cleared off. Mr. Dunn had been using his gun during the day and left it elsewhere in a case, or no doubt, as he is a crack shot, he would have given one of them
a charge of that as a memento of their visit.

It would appear that the church bell is the next cherished institution which must go. An agitation has been instituted against it in large towns and cities, the clanging bell being voted a nuisance as it annoys
the sick and tries the nerves of all. A cheap time piece is now being sold in the homes of all classes, so that the bell is not required to tell the hour for service. The salvation army drum is found more effective to gather a crowd, but it is thought that the salu-tionment will demand the removal of both.

On Friday last Miss Rathbun after a pleasant voyage across the lake, where she was met by Mr. & Mrs. E. W. Rathbun

Q. Trueman had their engine pally decorated with flags in honor of Miss Rathbun's coach which made its first trip on the

The lake ball match between the Ashley Carriage Company, of Belleville, and the Deseronto Club came off on Monday afternoon and was witnessed by a large crowd of interested spectators. The first match ever played by the Deseronto team, which was not anticipated.

The game was well played, but the Deseronto team was expected, in the defeat of the home team 14 to 8 score of 15 to 7. The home team was not too hot and disheartened
and will try to conquer the Deseronto team at an early date.

ness the dancers address themselves to their task at the platform Dominion and other deservedly popular with all classes.

A new kind of fish is reported to have been discovered in the St. Lawrence river.
It is called Baptist fish, because it will not live for a moment out of water.

A RUTTY becomes a dog, a kitten becomes a cat, a piglet becomes a hog, a mouse becomes a rat, but what makes men rear and put in as a mortgage becomes an elaborate.

A Years' Experience!

After nearly a years experience of Simon's Liniment I have found it to be what I supposed at first it was, an excellent Liniment to have about stable. I have used it in cases of Cuts, Galls, Bruises and Sprains, and in every case found relief at once. Cleansing the cuts and galls so that they healed rapidly, and reducing the soreness in cases of sprains and bruises in a short time.

Nothing has presented itself to me that has so effectively relieved and prevents the Horse Distemper. I have also found it of very great service, both in my own family and in the families of my men, in cases for which it is intended to be used.

"Morning light found me in a desert of sand, and a strong, steady wind, which blew so piercingly all night, lulled, as it generally does towards morning, but the heavy vapor, loaded with light particles of sand, which, with the sun rose, as blood, gave warning that the calm would not continue long; nor had I pursued my course another hour, before the fear of the desert wind was heard, columns of dust began to rise in the horizon, and the air became gradually filled with driving sand. "Commed me to a woman for making

man to his reporter. "I sent a telegram to my wife
in Brooklyn, in which I said: 'Meet me Wall Street ferry at 3 p.m.' My intention being to take her to see a girl I had been seeing for some time. On time, but could find nothing of my wife. I waited until 4 o'clock arrived, and then the thought suddenly struck me that the girl might be at the other end. Arrived there—no sign. I speak-and blew from off their crests, like spray from the ocean, and covered myself and my companions with a fine mist of spray unable to distinguish the true course, my horns tolled over the ridges, sinking up to the very girths in the deep, billowing substance."

I continued for some hours to persevere, struggling against the fury of the gale and the clouds of suffocating sand. To my alarm the storm increased in violence. My horse

well as unwilling, to face the sharp drifting

There was nothing to do so I got back. I took the 3:49 boat and stood outside to cool off. In midstream we passed the other boat and I'll be blown if there isn't my wife going back to Brooklyn. I saw her waving her hand. I thought, "I can't stay here; it would not be fair, for when the blows were alike intellectual."

To abandon my wife would have been to go against everything I could not proceed a mile on foot; yet to remain stationary, as I was forced to do by the animal's terror, meant certain destruction. Everything that offered resistance to the torrent was crushed. The earth beneath the water, like the earth in a rapid stream of water, was overwhelmed in an incredibly short time; even

A Word for Bananas.

The banana has a high recommendation as an article of food because of its nutritious character. One authority announces that a pound of this fruit has more nutriment than three pounds of meat or as many pounds of potatoes, while as food it is said to be in every sense superior to any other article of food. The natives of the tropical countries submit largely upon this point, and, in fact, the natives of the United States find them so good that they do find them, as chemists do, a food containing a large quantity of sugar.

The Most Comfortable Sort of a Place.

Mrs. Marlboro—"Oh, most certainly not. I shall carry up the coal and the beds myself, and I shall have a pair of coarse black boots and would be most happy to give

Not Experienced Enough for Matrimony.

Miss Tipty Fichet—"Are you sure you have never loved any other woman?" Mr. Goodman—"Quite sure."

Miss Tipty Fichet—"And no woman has ever loved you?"

Mr. Goodman—"Never."

Miss Tipty Fichet—"Then, sir, I must really decline your offer. I cannot marry such an inexperienced man."

A LEGEND.

A lovely woman in an east on land Once awayed a kingdom with her slender hand:

Her hair was heavy grew and weighed her down:

Upon her brow there pressed a jeweled crown

Too cumbersome for its tender resting place,

The golden weight at once a heavy face:

She cried: "I have grown tired of my power, It seemeth more unbearable each hour."

"Let some one come that I may crown him King:

Within his hand he must a girdle bring That shall by far my boundless wealth exceed."

So, having it, I'll tell no other need."

Her wish was known, and lo! from far and near

There thronged around her post, prince and peer.

With offerings of dazzling beauty wrought In wondrous shapes and with deep meanings fraught.

They laid their gifts down humbly at her feet.

She sighed: "Alas! I find them incomplete. Within these sparkling stones no solace lies; I dream of wealth revealed in human eyes."

Morn after morn a suppliant went away

Until there came upon her throne one day A man with empty hands, yet noble face

And form of matchless mold and peerless grace.

The queen looked up and asked: "What gift hast thou?"

To answer for the crown upon my brow?"

He gazed within her eyes and naught replied. She frowned him, saying, "I am satisfied."

Cleopatra's needle was not erected by the Egyptian queen, nor in her honor.

"Turkish baths" did not originate in Turkey, and are not baths, only heated chambers.

German silver was not invented in Germany, and does not contain a particle of silver.

Black lead is not lead at all, but a compound of carbon and a small quantity of iron.

Brazilian grass never grew in Brazil, and is not grass; it is nothing but strips of palm leaf.

Brandy punch is not punch, and does not come from Brandy, the greater part of it is rosin and palm oil.

Scallop wax does not contain a particle of wax, but is composed of Venice turpentine, shellac and a small quantity of oil.

Mr. J. Cuttler is not a bone, but a kind of chalk once included in the fossil remains of extinct specimens of cuttler.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

RED THE FAVORITE COLOR.

It is a curious circumstance that red, the unclean color of so many, is the favorite color, and may be called the king color, of the normal eye. It is especially so in ancient times. If we examine the Bible we shall find that the Hebrews scarcely ever use color as an epithet, as we do when we say "the blue sky," "the purple hills," "they say, indeed, 'the Red sea' but blue is scarcely mentioned as seen in nature, only in the "blue and purple and scarlet" of the tabernacle hangings, or of the high priest's robes, or of the pavement of the palace of "red and blue and black and white marble," in the Book of Esther.

Yellow, except as a sign of decay, is mentioned but once or twice; "her feathers like yellow gold." But red is largely spoken of in as late times, and perhaps as incorrectly, for we did not invent, we only imitated, the expressions, "red gold," "red wine," one of these being merely orange, and the other a rusty purple.

"Red hair," is a modern, rather medieval, inaccurate "red cow" we got from the ancients. These epithets all appear to show a certain fancy for calling things red as more agreeable and costly color.—Good Words.

OUR COUNTRY SCHOOLHOUSES.

Are we a civilized people? Of course the answer depends upon the definition that is given to civilization. Judging by our country schoolhouses there is a chance for several degrees of advance before we reach high civilization. A garden and forest has set out to reform our schoolhouses. In the west this reform is far less needed than in the east. But if there are any hidden little food like structures, set out in unimproved spots of waste land, it is in the style schoolhouses. It ought in all cases to be placed in a snug little place, surrounded by abundant shade. A child's mind, and teachers are trees, flowers, brooks, hills and valleys and other objects in nature. These are the real character builders. If you wish the child to grow in you children, surround them with beautiful sights and scenes.

COURAGE OF AN ARMY.

Discipline, that well spring of victory, is recognized as one of the most potent means of raising the standard of courage in an army. It teaches men that their best reliance is in their own bravery; gives them confidence in each other; removes the fear that they may not be properly supported in any emergency; and, yet, some of the most part of an intelligent machine moving methodically, under perfect control and not guided by incompetency, and establishes that spirit of corps which goes so far to make fighting armies formidable in war. It was discipline which enabled the commander in chief to order his troops to march to form his men in line on deck, present arms, and go down with the vessel, while the boats played "God Save the King."—Gen. Horace Porter in The Century.

THE PERFECT HORSE.

The perfect horse is yet to be found, and we must take facts as they are, and not expect to find all good qualities in any one horse. In dealing with a stranger rely largely on your own judgment, and endeavor not to be misled by any questionable statements he may make. See that the horse stands squarely on his feet, and that it does not toe out behind, or toe in forward.

Run your hand slowly and carefully down the inside of each leg; if there is a bunch there you will feel it. See that the feet are sound and well shaped. A dark hoof, if sound, is always preferable to a white or cracked one. Look sharp at the eye. A bright full eye denotes spirit; a mild, pleasant eye, with a brownish cast, indicates a pleasant, affectionate disposition, which an eye with a good deal of white denotes temper. There is perhaps no other way to judge a horse's disposition so well as by a careful study of his eyes, and too much importance cannot well be attached to the necessity of a good disposition. In every case, take a bill of the horse, written by the seller himself, with the horse, described therein as sound or unsound. If a buyer is personally acquainted with any reliable person who has a satisfactory horse for sale, it is better to purchase of him, even though it may cost more. Nearly every man feels indignant at the suggestion that he is not competent to handle any horse, while the fact is that "that after you and I are taken out of the list, there remain comparatively few men who are competent to handle a fine, high-strung, nervous horse, although it may not be in the least vicious." Many a man has made a serious mistake by getting more horse than he can handle. He may lack the patience required with a wide-awake horse.—American Agriculturist for July.

KINGSFORD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. O'Hare, of Plainfield, and Mrs. Adams, of Deseronto, have been visiting Mrs. James McNulty.

Mrs. Delmore, of Deseronto, has been visiting her father Mr. Charles Wright this week.

Mr. Orange, our late teacher, left for Niagara on Saturday last.

The drought still continues. On Tuesday afternoon we had a heavy windstorm in fact a hurricane, but the trees were levelled and trees snapped like twigs.

On Sunday night last about 11 o'clock a very heavy shock of earthquake was felt all through this section of country. Houses rocked, windows were shaken and crockery broken. In one instance glass was broken in the windows. The shock lasted only two or three seconds and the testimony from all quarters is to the same effect. A meteor was observed the same evening, between 6 and 7 o'clock moving in a north westerly direction.

Messrs. Grooms and Dowling patrons of the Empire Mill Factory, were summoned by Inspector Whittier for sending impure milk to the factory. The former on two charges was fined $2.50 and the latter on four charges was fined $7.00. Both parties have appealed.

Mrs. Gordon and Mr. William Gordon left for Brighton on Friday morning to visit their relatives there.

The Orangemen through this section daily observed the 8th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, and some to Fort Hope.

A man named Mathew Leonard an old resident on the 8th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, died at a late hour, which resulted in his death. It appears that he set fire to a brush heap on his farm and the weather being so dry the fire quickly spread to a neighbor's fence and it is supposed that endeavoring to put the fire out he was overpowered by the flames and smoke which resulted in his death. It was a sad accident, but after a time recovered and after lingering a few hours death put an end to his sufferings. The deceased was well known and much respected and was 73 years of age. He is able now to be up and around and it is to be hoped that he may soon be restored to health.

BY BESSIE STAR KEEHN

If the diagraphy cry raised above my fortunate head had been uttered by one of the over zealous people who raised it, I might have been willing to listen to a few words, or even to a lecture, from national and international councils of women.

The great international scheme has little to do with me. It is a thing that exists all over the world known. Two years ago it came into the wise head of Susan B. Anthony and she called upon me to help her workers of the world to know how to work and to learn what each was doing for the good of the whole. She is now living within our own narrow limits, in the town of Andover, Mass., where she does our own piece of work with as in comparison with that of others; so she ought to bring to that of other nations those workers that each might be brought to the aid of her own self.

Her young daughter, Miss Rachel G. Foster, of Philadelphia, a creature, and of high social standing in the city, has been here in connection with, acting as secretary, and correspondent, to the meeting of all countries of the world, and rested the weight of responsibility for this convention. Never were women more unlike, but never were they more united than at this time.

When I study the progress at home, I see that the socialist struggle is going on as fast as ever. The workers are well organized. Take even our Workers' Union in Christendom Temperance Union, which has been in existence for some time. In no case are the workers not well organized. But there is a danger that the Dominion Union has a chance to live in practically dead.

There is a danger that the country will be split up, but there is no national war, and so one by one they will die for their breath. And thus it is with number which is the cause of the death of the country, though of course they have a long struggle of life.

There is a danger that the workers will be split up, but there is no national war, and so one by one they will die for their breath. And thus it is with number which is the cause of the death of the country, though of course they have a long struggle of life.

What is the remedy for this state of affairs? The answer, I think, is that the women of New York are not slow, if they are not to be called "the toneless call," but they are slow to wreathe, but in our inmost souls we ourselves have given occasion for sorrow. The opportunity is before us to redeem our reputation. Surely there is energy enough among our own women to take up this work of thorough organization. We must have more of it. We must have Susan B. Anthony and Rachel G. Foster. Where are they? Women of Canada, on the other hand, are not slow to wreathe. They shall be able to know our work and to help us at least and to learn what the women over here are doing.

OUR BROAD, BEAUTIFUL DOMINION are doing that we may tell out to the world through some duly appointed delegate what shall have been accomplished in these countries. I have heard that the women of Canada at the great International Council of 1889 wherever it may be held. Thus shall

Other Worlds Than This

Recent improvements in telescopes have enabled astronomers to make interesting discoveries, and it is positively asserted by Signor Schiaparelli, of Milan, who, it is said, has discovered interesting life in the world, that Mars is inhabited by a people somewhat like ourselves. He has made the wonderful discovery that the canals in that planet are not dry, but are full of water. They are nearly a hundred miles in diameter, and run from the sea-coast to the interior. According to Prof. E. A. Boyle, other astronomers are of the opinion that the canals are not known that Mars has snow and rain, while there are indubitable evidences of animals

It is said that if ever Lord Salisbury's bill for reforming the House of Lords should become law, Sir John A. Macdonald will be made a life peer.

Mrs. Scott, of the Napane Beaver, gave us a call on Monday morning on her way home from Davey's Island where her family are spending the summer months.

Everything wears a busy appearance at the car works, the new cars for the C. P. R. being turned out very rapidly by Sub-Greenwood and his staff of assistants.

A number went up to Belleville on Monday to attend the regatta. They report a slow time. The 100 yard race was won in 1:15 and the 100 yard in 1:15 and the 100 yard in 1:15.

Mrs. Wm. Grant has removed to his new house in the west end. Mr. E. R. Chapman has moved into the residence on St. George street lately occupied by Mr. Grant.

We are assured that if the boards on the board-walks were made of iron and with the walk, they would not be worn out so rapidly and would be less liable to become loose.

Do not forget that all subscriptions to THE TRIBUNE should be paid by the end of this month. This can be easily done without incurring anything like hardship on one's salary.

Mr. Philip Conley has already commenced the new work of the new Chemical Works building. The new structure will be built in several sections all separated by fire proof walls and will be a substantial structure, and built of fire proof material manufactured at the Terra Cotta Works of the same company. The work on the building will be pushed forward with all speed possible and in a few months it is expected the works will be again in operation.

Mr. Conley's Excursion.

The British peerage has only secured the left hand of one of the most unclean of mortals. According to them the aristocracy are at present in a state of decadence. The English people would not long allow that such a crowd should be counted as the high society of England or that it should have a hereditary right to a proper living.

Decadence of the English Aristocracy.

The American Telegraphers seem to assume that their readers are delighted with the idea of having an American duchess as a neighbor. The British peerage has only secured the left hand of one of the most unclean of mortals. According to them the aristocracy are at present in a state of decadence. The English people would not long allow that such a crowd should be counted as the high society of England or that it should have a hereditary right to a proper living.

moorings at Deseronto at a late hour. They clustered and disgorged. It is said they had barely enough left to make their way to their homes while the crowd of those who were on the shore and hotel stairs were dismal and execrable in the extreme. No more yachting for them on Sunday.

Masonic Excursion.

The members of Craig Lodge, A. F. & A. M., enjoyed their annual excursion to Davey's Island and Glenora last Friday evening. There was a good and respectable attendance, the members of the order being out in force. They were much enjoyed by all. Young people tripped the "light fantastic" to the inspiring music of a good band and crowded them into the boat for the wedding bell. The hill at Glenora was climbed as usual by those couples whom the weather was much enjoyed by all. The return trip was greatly enjoyed and the dock reached by the Quinte at about midnight.

The "Truth" at Time Lake.

Two of the Orange Lodge of East Hastings and two from Tamworth, who, owing to the long distances from the railways, could not take part in the large gatherings at Port Hope, had been invited to the annual picnic for the purpose of keeping the twelfth and of helping the Methodist church at that place. They were much enjoyed by all. Young people tripped the "light fantastic" to the inspiring music of a good band and crowded them into the boat for the wedding bell. WHAT AM I TO DO?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappy but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for food but none for solids of the morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; it is not white and turned, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhoea or Constipation may be a symptom of the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids, even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

Union Lodge, No. 9, A. F. and A. M., Napanee, will meet for the first time in their new hall 29th July. The committee are vigorously pushing forward the final arrangements. More commodious lodge quarters will not be found in Eastern Ontario.

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered, but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a depraved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles, which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

Mr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Scurfu, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints, Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sore eyes, glandular swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scurfulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.
All sufferers from blood disorders should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial, avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially chop and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the disease, who are fraudulently advertised to remedy.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

A Year's Experience!

After nearly a year's experience of Simon's Liniment, I have found it to be what I supposed at first it was, an excellent Liniment to have about me. I have used it in cases of Cuts, Galls, Bruises and Sprains on my horses, and in every case found relief at once. Cleansing the cuts and galls so that they healed rapidly, and reducing the soreness in cases of sprains and bruises in a short time.

Nothing has presented itself to me that has so effectively relieved and prevents the Horse Distemper. I have also found it of very great service, both in my own family and in the families of my men, in cases for which it is intended to be used.

Let us Hope that the late Grand Rain has done this.

Never in the memory of the oldest inhabitant has such a blue look-out presented itself to the inhabitants of the Central District, wont to be called "The Garden of Canada," as before this week's rain, and while it may be true that "it will make No. 2 Barley," let us look on the bright side. It will prevent the cattle from starving, increase the cheese output, spoil the small potatoes and other poor vegetables, increase the yield of late sown grains—oats, peas, etc., and enable farmers, late though it is, to sow fodder corn and buckwheat to winter their stock with. There is no use bewailing what it might have been, let us be hopeful, do the best we can, make the most of a bad bargain and console ourselves with the reflection, "It might have been worse." Parts of Pennsylvania, Iowa and Illinois have been swept with floods, buildings, crops, stock and many lives having been lost.

THE CANOE SPEAKS.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.
On the great stream the ships may go About men's business to and fro But I, the egg-shell pinnace, sleep On crystal waters, ankle deep; I whose diminutive shape, O waster cedar, pithier pine; Is fashioned on so frail a mould— A hand may launch a hand withheld, I, the unnamed inviolate, Green, rustic rivers navigate; My dipping paddle scarcely shakes The berry in the bramble brakes. Still forth on my green way I wend Beside the cottage garden end, And by the nestled angler fare, And take the lovers unaware.

By willow, wood and water wheel Speedily fleets my touching keel; By all retired and shady spots, Where proper dim forget-me-nots.

USES OF EGGS.

The food contained in the egg has nearly all the elements necessary for the support of man. Eggs are admirably proportioned, they are palatable, they are concentrated and portable. The French masters of the culinary art claim that eggs can be prepared in more than five hundred different methods. Eggs contain phosphorus and sulphur. They are an excellent nutrient for children. The white of an egg is an antidote for the poison of corrosive sublimate, and from the yolk the Russians extract oil which has a wonderful repulse for the cure of bruises and cuts. In France, in the clarifying of wine, some seven million dozens of eggs are used in a year, and in calico printing and dressing leather for gloves more than three million dozens. Eggs which have survived their usefulness, and which indeed may be called decayed and thoroughly spoiled, and which once were dumped with city refuse, are now gathered and made use of by the manufacturers of Morocco leather. Perhaps the most profitable use to which the egg can be put is to raise a chicken therefrom, in time for the early spring season when "broilers" bear a higher price in the market than almost anything else. From the egg, through all the processes to which the chicken may pass, at every point there will be found profit for the farmer, with careful and intelligent management.—American Agriculturist for August.

HOW TO COOL A CELLAR.

A great mistake, says Melton Classic, is sometimes made in ventilating cellars and milk houses. The object of ventilation is to keep the cellars cool and dry, but this object is often being accomplished by a common mistake, and instead the cellar is made both warm and damp. A cool place should never be ventilated, unless the outside air is cooler than the air within, or is at least as cool as that, or a very little warmer. The warmer the air, the more moisture it holds in suspension.

Under the cooler the air, the more moisture is condensed and precipitated. When a cool cellar is aired on a warm day, an entire body of being in motion appears cool, but as it fills the cellar, the cooler air with which it becomes mixed chills it, the moisture is condensed, and dew is deposited on the walls and floor.

Necessitate the cellar should only be run down when it rains, and then the cellar is damp and soon becomes mouldy.

To avoid this, the cellar should only be run down at night, and late—the last thing before retiring. There is no need to fear that the night air is unhealthy; it is as pure as the air of midday, and in reality drier. The cool air enters the apartment during the night and circulates through it.

The window should be closed before sunrise on the morning, and kept closed and shaded through the day. If the air of the cellar is damp, it may be thoroughly dried by placing in it a peck or fresh lime in an open box. A peck of lime will absorb about seven pounds, or more than three quarts, of water, and in this way a cellar or milk room may soon be dried, even in the hottest weather.—Scientific American.

WHAT AM I TO DO?

The symptoms of biliousness are unpleasant, well-known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater.

Too frequently the crowd is with victims of biliousness but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear in spection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhoea or Constipation may be a symptom of the two may alternate.

Are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. They may be giddiness and often headache and vertigo, and a general feeling of weakness of the stomach. To correct all this if not a cure try Green's August Pills. It costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

Visitors are not permitted to land on the Canadian side of the Thousand Islands to the same extent as in former years. The American side is crowded with visitors.

Canadian nearly all go to the other side for pleasure as well as for work.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are recommended by the best physicians, because they are free from calomel and other injurious drugs.

While thorough in their action, they stimulate and strengthen the bowels and secretory organs.
